

With your support,
the UN Voluntary Trust Fund on Contemporary Forms of Slavery
aids survivors to reclaim their lives and dignity.

REACHING THE MOST VULNERABLE

The Fund assists survivors of many forms of contemporary slavery, including:

- domestic servitude
- early and forced marriage
- forced and bonded labour
- sale of children, commercial sexual exploitation of children
- sexual slavery
- traditional slavery
- trafficking for sexual or labour exploitation
- use of children in armed conflict
- the worst forms of child labour

SUPPORT WHERE IT'S NEEDED MOST

The Fund awards grants to civil society organizations providing direct transformative services to victims in locations few donors reach.

The Fund's financial support often serves as seed funding for grassroots and survivor-led associations.

A GLOBAL IMPACT

The Fund is managed by the UN Human Rights Office and collaborates closely with UN field operations and other UN mechanisms combatting slavery and human trafficking to ensure a truly effective global reach.

YOUR CONTRIBUTION MAKES A DIFFERENCE

Every donation expands access to medical, psychological, legal, social, humanitarian services, vocational training and livelihood support.

Guidance from an independent Board of Trustees ensures every contribution is used strategically.

DONATE NOW

On average, 100 USD provides a slavery survivor with holistic support for one year.

What your support made possible

ALBANIA

A young woman under 18 was exploited. With support from the Different & Equal, she accessed safe accommodation, counselling, education and employment support, helping her move toward independent living.

BRAZIL

Eight workers in Brazil were rescued from forced labour in charcoal production. With support from the Centro de Defensa de la Vida y los Derechos Humanos Carmen Bascarán, they obtained documentation and accessed health care, social assistance and employment.

CAMEROON

A 15-year-old girl was trafficked by a relative and exploited in domestic work while caring for her baby. With support from the Centre for Human Rights and Peace Advocacy, the girl and her child received medical and psychosocial assistance, as well as voluntary training to set on a new life.

THE PHILIPPINES

A woman was deceived into an illegal scam operation involving restricted movement, long hours and withheld pay. With support from the Eleison Foundation in 2025, she recovered and now serves on the Survivor Leadership Council.

Key figures for 2026

11,000+
survivors receiving support

38
direct assistance grants

31
countries

$1.3M
in voluntary contributions in 2025

Like them, there are thousands more survivors requiring support to recover freedom and heal. However, every year, the Fund must turn down dozens of applications.

FUNDING GAP IN 2026

11,190 survivors supported out of 57,341 identified

76% of projects could not be funded

USD 3,2M shortfall

For 2027, 138 organizations submitted grant applications to the Fund, requesting $4,2M to support 60,000 survivors across 66 countries.

Your support can help close this critical gap.
